

This country profile is not yet available, but please check back soon.

The country data is gathered through a detailed survey, structured around the themes and subthemes. The surveys are completed by country experts (researchers, lawyers, NGOs and other civil society actors), referenced with links to sources, reviewed by a second country expert, and then returned to the ENS Secretariat for analysis.

For transparency, the raw data (country survey) will be available to download from each country page. This is not intended for dissemination as a standalone document and should always be read in conjunction with the country profile.